

A Republican State Convention

Will be held in

NOROMBEGA HALL, BANGOR.

Wednesday, April 27, 1892,

At 11 O'clock, A. M.

for the purpose of selecting two candidates for electors of President and Vice President of the United States and four delegates at large and four alternates to attend the National Convention to be held at Minneapolis, Minnesota, on Tuesday, June 7, 1892, and transacting any other business that may properly come before it.

The basis of representation will be as follows: Each City, Town and Plantation will be entitled to one delegate, and for each seventy-five votes cast for the Republican candidate for Governor in 1888, an additional delegate, and for a fraction of forty votes in excess of seventy-five votes, an additional delegate.

Vacancies in the delegation of any City, Town, or Plantation can only be filled by residents of the County in which the vacancy exists.

The State Committee will be in session in the reception room of the Hall at nine o'clock on the morning of the Convention, for the purpose of receiving the credentials of delegates. Delegates, in order to be eligible to participate in the Convention, must be elected subsequent to the date of the call for this Convention; and delegates under this call should not be elected to the State Convention to be hereafter called for the purpose of nominating a candidate for Governor.

All electors of Maine, without regard to past political differences, who are in sympathy with the sentiments expressed in the call of the Republican National Committee for the Republican National Convention, are cordially invited to unite with the Republicans of the State in electing delegates to this Convention.

Per order, Republican State Committee.
JOSEPH H. MANLEY, Chairman.
F. E. SOUTHWARD, Secretary.
AUGUSTA, Me., February 1, 1892.

MUNICIPAL COURT.

BEFORE JUDGE GOULD.

WEDNESDAY—Frank J. Mitchell, Michael Dillon, Intoxication; each fined $3 and cost. Benj. F. McLaughlin, Intoxication; 30 days in county jail.
Patrick Mulken, Assault; four months in county jail.
Thomas Donahue, Assault; fined $10 and cost.
James Kelleher, Search and seizure, two cases; fined $100 and cost and 60 days in county jail in each case. Appealed.

Living Whist at Bangor.

The Bangor Whig and Courier gives a long account of Living Whist, as produced in that city, in yesterday's issue. A second presentation was given last night. Norombega Hall was the scene of the game and was prettily decorated for the occasion. The festival was given in aid of St. John's Episcopal parish, and there were booths for the sale of fancy articles presided over by Bangor's fairest maidens. There were two cafes, and a delicious supper was served from 6 to 7.45 o'clock.

At 8 o'clock the large and fashionable audience had all assembled, and Waggon's orchestra, located on the stage, played the overture, "King Midas," by Ellenberg, and Abecassis "Duchess of Albany Gavotte" admirably. At 8.30 Mr. M. B. Gilbert raised his baton, which was followed by a march by the orchestra. To its music the four players, Messrs. H. M. Prentiss, E. M. Hersey, I. K. Stetson and S. H. Boardman, appeared and took their places. Then came the pack of cards, composed of Bangor's best known citizens, the only participant from Portland being Mr. Nathan Clifford, who was knave of hearts, and of whom the Whig says "he made a most favorable impression by his excellent dancing of the hornpipe." Mr. Gilbert is given high praise for the skill with which he had drilled the performers. Among those present from Portland were Messrs. William Henry Anderson, Wadsworth Noyes and Frank True.

The Emerald Associates.

The Emerald Associates will give a grand concert and ball at City Hall tomorrow evening. This will be the first this lively young association has undertaken, and as it is composed of some of the most popular young men of the city and Chandler's orchestra will furnish fine music, it is certain that there will be a great demand for tickets.

The Libels Against the Oregon.

The libels against the Oregon will come up in the United States Court this forenoon at 10 o'clock. Yesterday afternoon depositions were taken of several officers of the Oregon who may have to be absent on account of the sailing of their vessel. Benj. Thompson is to appear for the libellants and D. W. Snow for the Dominion Steamship Company.

W. C. T. U.

Mrs. Hannah J. Bailey of Winthrop Centre, National Superintendent of the Department of Peace and Arbitration, will present her work in this line at the meeting tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock at 51½ Exchange street. All are invited.

Cleveland's Baking Powder leavens best. The loaf is fine—not coarse grained; cake and breads do not dry up and get "husky," but keep moist and fresh.

The reason is the strength of Cleveland's comes from cream of tartar and soda, nothing else. It is not cheapened with ammonia or alum. Cleveland's is wholesome; leavens most and leavens best.

MUSIC AND DRAMA.

Frank Mayo.

Last evening, Frank Mayo appeared in the familiar idyl of "Davy Crockett," at Portland Theatre. The impersonation is one of the most delightful known to the stage, and the actor received unstinted applause from his audience in the chief scenes of the play. In the scene in the cabin where he shows his tenderness for Elinor, wrapping her up carefully to protect her from the cold blasts, and then his manly courage by using his arm as the bar with which to hold the door against the shrieking, yelping wolves struggling to enter, Mr. Mayo was exceedingly strong and brought down the house.

Mr. Mayo was well supported, and the play was well put on the stage. There should be a crowded house tonight to show the appreciation in which an actor of the standing and ability of Mr. Mayo is held.

Lilhatansu Quartette.

The Lilhatansu Quartette will give the next entertainment in the Church of the Messiah course tomorrow evening. This will be the programme:

(a. Fly Away, Birding,.....Anderson
(b. Blue Bells of Scotland.....Lilhatansu Quartette
Hammock.....Towne
Lilhatansu Quartette.
Duet—Night and Morning.....Riz
Mrs. Wood and Mrs. Whitney.
Reading.....C. F. Wighl
Old Kentucky Home.....C. F. Wighl
Lilhatansu Quartette.
Duet—Suean, Folk Songs, Nos. 1 and 6.....Mrs. Lull and Mrs. Bull.
Old Mother Hubbard.....Root
Sweet Bye and Bye.....N. R. Nash
Lilhatansu Quartette.

Piano Concert.

There will be a delightful concert given at Plymouth church this evening. Mr. Charles H. Toby of Dover, N. H., who will give a piano recital, is highly spoken of, and his programme will embrace selections from leading composers. Mr. Robert Rexdale will read twice, and other talent will appear.

Organ Recital.

Mr. W. H. Carter's organ recital at the Church of the Messiah, Saturday afternoon, at 4 o'clock, will embrace in its programme a varied and highly attractive series of selections. Miss Henrietta D. Rice will sing several songs.

Katie Emmett.

Katie Emmett and her clever companion players, who appear at the Portland Theatre Monday and Tuesday, February 29 and March 1, in that realistic comedy-drama, "The Waifs of New York," have been meeting with a landslide of success throughout the country the past three years. The New York, Chicago and San Francisco papers can't say too much in their praise. The company is the strongest ever seen in melodrama in our city, no less than three members having starred successfully.

Paderewski.

There will be the most brilliant musical audience gathered at City Hall the evening of February 29th and afternoon of March 1st that has been called together in this city for years. Large parties are coming here from all over the state. Mr. Stockbridge has received very large orders, which he has promptly filled. It behooves all of our readers who contemplate attending, but have not yet procured seats, to get them at once.

A Parlor Match.

The Boston Herald says: "The well known 'Parlor Match' came back to Boston last night; but by reason of the addition of new gags, new music and new faces is now termed 'Parlor Match Up to Now.' Evans and Hoey are still the prime fun-movers in the piece, but the Levy Sisters prove a very close attraction. The lively skit was acted with spirit and appeared to delight the large audience as much as it did the audiences of former seasons." The "Parlor Match" will be seen at City Hall on March 9th and 10th, and tickets are now ready at Stockbridge's.

Concert at the First Baptist Church.

One of the most enjoyable concerts of the season was given last evening at the First Baptist church, by the Mendelssohn Male Quartette, Miss Knight, Miss Goodwin and Miss Plummer, and the fine programme published yesterday was most charmingly rendered. The selections of the quartette were sung to great acceptance, and Miss Knight's beautiful song, "To Sevilla," was enthusiastically received. Miss Goodwin's violin solos met with well merited approval, and Miss Plummer's accompaniments and piano solo were given with her well known excellence of taste and execution. Particularly delightful were those numbers which were sung by the quartette and Miss Knight. Encores were frequent and generously responded to, and an appreciative audience went home thoroughly pleased.

Gunning at Junk of Pork.

Capt. Pres Wallace, W. H. Trefethen and Prince Trefethen went to Junk of Pork the other morning on a gunning trip. They had breakfast at 3 a. m. and had nothing more to eat until 9 p. m. It took them four hours to row from Junk of Pork to their house at Peaks Island, a distance of three miles, against a heavy wind which froze the spray on their clothing. Capt. Wallace was so used up he had to be left at Long Island, but he was all right the next day. There were 116 ducks shot at Junk of Pork from Wednesday to Friday whose aggregate weight was one quarter of a ton. Capt. Wallace and the Trefethens bagged 64 birds on this trip.

Food for Russia.

A petition is in circulation in this city and receiving numerous signatures asking Congress to appropriate money to send a ship load of food to the starving Russians.

THE SISTERS OF MERCY.

The Mother Superior's Silver Jubilee Comes Off Today.

The Free street convent will be the scene of a few simple, but interesting exercises today. The occasion is the silver jubilee, or twenty-fifth anniversary of Sister Teresa's profession as a religionist. Sister Teresa is a native of England, who entered the convent at Manchester, N. H., before Maine became a separate diocese. She is a lady of culture and refinement, and has done a great deal in the cause of the church since she has been in Portland. She is at present the Mother Superior of the Sisters of Mercy in the Diocese of Maine. The exercises today will be participated in by the clergy and nuns of the city, and also by Sisters from other portions of the state. This forenoon mass will be celebrated at the convent on Free street, Rt. Rev. Bishop Healey and the priests of the diocese officiating. In the afternoon the young ladies of the convent academy will give an entertainment in honor of the occasion. It is also quite likely that some token of the esteem of her friends may be presented to the Mother Superior.

The Sisters of Mercy, in their long black robes with loose sleeves, and black crape bonnets, have long been familiar figures in Portland. They are, indeed, the most numerous sisterhood in Maine. There are at Lewiston the nuns of Notre Dame and at Waterville a convent of the Ursuline Sisters; but in other places in Maine the Sisters of Mercy are established. There are about twenty-five sisters in Portland, and about as many more in Deering. They maintain at the Free street convent an academy for the higher education of young ladies; at which about fifty scholars are in attendance. At Deering the Sisters maintain an Old Ladies' Home and also another academy for girls.

Although not one of the oldest orders of the Catholic church, the Sisters of Mercy, or Order of Our Lady of Mercy, is very extensive in the United States. It was founded in Dublin by Miss Catherine McAuley in 1830. Pope Gregory XVI. approved of the order in 1835. The first American house was established at St. Johns, N. F., in 1842, and the first in the United States in Pittsburgh in 1843. It has now extended throughout the country, possessing convents, schools, asylums and hospitals all over New England and the West. They are the principal order in Maine, as has already been stated. They are subject to the bishop in each diocese, and have no general superior. The bands of sisters in each diocese have a Mother Superior, elected by the professed choir sisters and confirmed by the bishop. In Maine Sister Teresa occupies this position.

Candidates for admission to the band of Sisters undergo a "postulancy" of six months, at the end of which time they assume the white veil and become novitiates. The novitiate takes two years. The vows, which are taken for life, bind the members to poverty, chastity, obedience and the service of the poor, sick and ignorant.

The habit of the order is a black robe with long loose sleeves, a white coif and a white or black veil. In the streets a bonnet of black crape is worn instead of the coif and veil.

The Gray Friars.

The monks that arrived on the Circassian from Europe Tuesday were Peter Baptiste, minister provisorian of the Franciscan French Province, and his secretary Fr. Andrew, O. S. F., (Order of St. Francis). Accompanying these were Fr. Mary Barnard, O. S. F., and Br. Consarine. Fr. Peter Baptiste is the head of the French Province which embraces monasteries not only in the Old but the New World. With his secretary he will visit monasteries in Canada, the United States and Mexico. Father Baptiste and suite called on Bishop Healey and were warmly welcomed.

Rules For Lent.

Bishop Healey has issued an address to the clergy and laity of this Catholic diocese in which he says:

In consideration of the epidemic which has caused so much sickness and so many deaths; which leaves the convalescent so feeble and so liable to a fatal relapse, the Pope has been good enough to authorize us to dispense for this diocese from the fasting and abstinence of Lent for this year. On Friday there will be the usual abstinence from flesh meat without the obligation of fasting, except on Good Friday. Where the physician prescribes flesh meat for the convalescent or the feeble, there need be no scruple or hesitation about eating flesh even on Friday.

Wherefore we finish by publishing to the clergy, the religious and the laity of our diocese:

1st. The dispensation from the fasting and abstinence of Lent, Fridays only excepted, when as a remembrance of our Saviour's hunger and thirst in the passion, we are to abstain from flesh meat as usual. On Good Friday only we are to fast.

2nd. The collection for the mission to the heathen throughout the world, and for Indians and the colored people throughout our own country, is to be made in all the churches on the first Sunday of Lent. It will be announced on the previous Sunday.

3d. The contribution of one cent is expected for the holy Palestine from each one who approaches to kiss the cross on Good Friday.

Columbus and the World's Fair.

The story of America's discovery, as it will be told by Mr. Robert Rexdale at Portland Theatre tomorrow evening, will be sure to interest from the beginning to the close. "Columbus and the World's Fair," as the title indicates, will be a lecture connecting the man and the event in a natural way. The estimate of Columbus, as given in Mr. Justin Winsor's new book, is not one to be generally concurred in, and Mr. Rexdale's lecture will be a plea for the Columbus revealed by the French historian, Lamartine. It will be finely illustrated. The programme of music for the phonograph concert will be published tomorrow.

THE HOLY LAND.

Some Curious Scenes in the Moslem's Domain.

The lecture at the First Parish House last evening, by Rev. James De Normandie, was a very interesting excursion to the Holy Land with side glances at the masterpieces of the great Italian, Flemish and German painters that have portrayed scenes in the life of Christ. Mr. De Normandie showed his hearers first, the town and harbor of Jaffa, the ancient Joppa. The object of greatest interest in that town is the house of Simon the Tanner, where Peter had his famous vision. In the harbor are rocks which the ancients connected with the myth of Andromeda, chained to the sea girl rocks.

The lecturer said that Jerusalem, like all the eastern cities, looked fair in the distance; but near to it is endurable only on account of its sacred memories. The magnificent Moslem mosque of St. Omar occupies the place where stood the Jewish temple. Yet the old temple is not forgotten, and melancholy groups of Jews gather by the stones of the ruins of its walls to lament and pray for the restoration of the land of their fathers. The very stones are worn smooth by the tears and kisses of devout and mournful Jews of many generations.

The place where the Holy Sepulchre is supposed to have been is covered by a Christian church, built by the pious liberality of Christendom. But the lecturer described the church as neither grand nor beautiful; either in architecture or ceremonials. Monks of the Greek, Latin, Assyrian, Armenian and Coptic Christian churches are its jealous tenants; and their rivalries are so bitter that Arab soldiers are needed to keep them in Christian peace, while a Moslem governor is custodian of the altar furnishings because no one of the priests can be trusted with them. The valley of Jehosaphat is a curious place. Hebrew tradition regards this place as the scene of the resurrection, and the hillside is fairly paved with the tombs of pious Jews, who in their old age have come there from all parts of the world to die and be buried handy to the scene of the resurrection. They are still going there and the tombs are still multiplying.

The Garden of Gethsemane, supposed to be on the site of the old garden, is kept much like an English garden, and is noted for its aged olive trees, which are claimed to have been there in the time of Christ. The lecturer did not think this improbable in view of the fact that Prof. Gray had found in California a pine which he believes to have been a sapling when Christ was on earth. The Dragon tree of Tenerife is believed to be as old as any pyramid. It is an oak which saw the march of Caesar's legions and of Napoleon's columns.

Hebron was noticeable for the rigor of its Moslem customs. There, as in other Moslem countries, the lecturer found the Mohammedans consistent testators, regarding a liking for wine as the failing and reproach of the Christians.

The wells of Bethesda are there as they probably were in the days of Abraham.

Bates College.

[Special Correspondence.]

LEWISTON, Feb. 23.—The two literary societies held observance of Washington's Birthday by the customary exercises last evening. The programme was an excellent one made up of the best talent the college afforded and was successfully carried out.

Following is the order of exercises: Music—The Flag without a Stain.....White Male Chorus.
Prayer.....
Recitation—Character of Washington. Webster, Miss Annie L. Bean '93.
Oration—Washington in the eyes of the Old World.....
N. W. Howard '92.
Discussion—Will Lincoln be a greater Historical Character than Washington.....
Miss Lena L. Neal '93.
Aff. N. C. Bruce '93. Neg. W. F. Sims, '93.
Music—To Three O'Clock.....J. Liebherr Male Chorus.
Oration—Washington the Soldier and Statesman.....
W. H. Putnam '92.
Recitation—The Vow of Washington.....Whittier.
Miss Lena L. Neal '93.
Music—Who is a Patriot.....Emerson Male Chorus.

Thursday next is to be observed as day of prayer for colleges. General prayer services at 9 A. M. by the Y. M. C. A. and at 2.30 P. M. Rev. Mr. Busfield a Baptist preacher from Bangor will preach before the students.

C. N. Blanchard '92 teaches a high school at Chase Mills and A. F. Gilmore '92, supervisor of farmers, teaches a high school at Keen's Mills.
The management of the ball team for the coming season has changed hands. The Association was sure of financial success with Blanchard as manager but by reason of necessary absence from college work he has been obliged to resign and J. R. Little '92 was unanimously elected to fill the vacancy. Mr. Little knows base ball thoroughly having played on the '89 champion team. He is admirably fitted both by education and experience for the business part of his work and too is both popular in the college and the cities and has many friends over the state. He also has the advantage of managing a wide awake team which to say the least possesses the elements of success.

Colby University.

Friday evening a reception and hop will be given by the Royalty Club of the University. The committee of arrangements are C. E. Cohen, '92; F. Howe, '94, and C. W. Peirce, '94. Every effort is being made to render the event a complete success, and if the club keeps up its past reputation the affair will be the climax of the season.

Recitations were suspended on Washington's birthday. The boys celebrated with a social dance at Soper's Hall.

Work on the Oracle is progressing at a rapid rate so that the annual may be expected at an early date this year.

Profs. Mathews and Bassett have been on the invalid list the past week.

The intended resignation of President Small causes considerable comment in the camp. The future of co-ordination and Dr. Small's successor are of course the attendant topics.

A. H. Chipman, '91, manager of last year's ball team is now successfully engaged with the Groder Dyspepsia Cure Company as advertising agent.

A play will be given this term or next for the benefit of the Athletic Association.

Prof. Battis gave several readings at Wilton and the adjoining towns last week.

STATE TOPICS OF INTEREST.

A resident of Warren in Knox county writes to the Rockland Courier-Gazette as follows:

Sunday evening at 9 o'clock our village for a few seconds presented a bright appearance. The reflections on the buildings looked as though some one of them were all ablaze. On looking out of the window to see the cause I noticed a small fire in the middle of the road, just going out. Thinking it must be a meteor I made an examination the next morning and found by the side of the hotel in the road a blacked mass. On digging up the snow I found what sent forth a small like powder. After removing the black I came to a yellow color of snow which was strongly impregnated with sulphur. I gathered up some of the black snow to melt, that I might add some of the dust thereto from my relic room.

For some time past Bangoreans of ambitious tastes have been enjoying choice vegetables from the State College. One who enters the extensive green houses there thinks that summer has come indeed, for he sees tomatoes, lettuce, cucumbers, beans, carrots, radishes, rhubarb and quite a display of flowers. The tomatoes occupy one-half of the middle bed, or about 250 square feet, and the fine, large red fruit looks "just good enough to eat." The varieties grown are Ignomus, Ithica and Perfection.

A large party of the remainder of the middle bed is devoted to lettuce and the boys think it is not a bad addition to the boarding house dinners. About one-half of the side bed, or 150 square feet, is devoted to cucumbers. The English varieties, Sion House and Telegraph, are found here. One cucumber recently picked measured about 20 inches in length. Larger or smaller spaces are devoted to the radishes, beans, etc.

Col. A. C. Hamlin of Maine, historian of the Eleventh Corps, Army of the Potomac, lectured on the battle of Chancellorsville under the auspices of C. L. Channell Post 143, G. A. R., in the lower town hall, Brookline, Mass., Tuesday evening. He upheld the honor of that much-maligned division, and showed that the part it played in the battle was deserving of the highest praise. The First Massachusetts Infantry, he claimed, was responsible for the death of Gen. "Stonewall" Jackson. Many old veterans put questions to the speaker at the close of the lecture.

The Equitable Life Assurance Society of New York makes its annual statement in our advertising columns this morning. Its large assets, its unparalleled surplus, which is a tower of strength in depressing times, its promptness in meeting its obligations, and the simplicity of its contracts, makes this society one of the most desirable to patronize. Among the most popular investments of the day are the Endowment Bonds issued by the Equitable in denominations of $1000 upward. The society guarantees 5 per cent interest on the sum of the premiums paid during a period of 15 or 20 years, and in event of death before the maturity of the bond, where the premiums paid amount, at 4 per cent compound interest, to more than the face of the policy, such excess is paid with the face of the policy. This form of investment is recognized among Portland's business men as one of the most conservative, and is being liberally patronized. The bonds are unrestricted as to residence, travel and occupation, after the first year; incontestable after the second year; and non-forfeitable after the third year. Any of the society's agents are authorized to negotiate for the purchase of these bonds.

Merchants and others looking for reliable insurance companies should examine the statement of the United Firemen's of Philadelphia, represented in this city by William F. Little, No. 19 Exchange street.
